How to Live to Be

100 — and Make It

Seem Even Longer

The noted medical writer Dr. Morris Fishbein thinks everyone could live to be 100 if they follow certain rules. As quoted in the New York Times, Dr. Fishbein's rules follow:

1. Don't get angry, and don't shout.

2. Don't get crowded.

3. Don't take things one at a time.

4. Accept disturbances and annoyances as they are.

5. Don't fear yourself apart because you are not succeeding in some effort.

6. Don't avoid trouble—but meet it with equanimity.

7. Don't argue with stupidity.

8. Walk away from arguments over trivial or futile matters.

9. Don't let your doctor's diagnosis and weighing his prescription suggest that the question before the house has become one of how to live to be 100 but why.

10. Under Dr. Fishbein's formula you wouldn't dare write for a newspaper. It wouldn't be advisable to read one.

11. His formula would give you out of the world a fair share of a hermit. And the paradox of human existence is that rescuers are always glad to discover a hermit.

12. The broadcast said the United States had mobilized 150,000 men, and had run up a $100 million budget deficit and still couldn't defeat the North Koreans and Chinese.

13. He was not meant to be a hermit.

14. I am reminded by Dr. Fishbein's words of something that happened to the late Maj. R. S. Starnes, a former district highway engineer in the Wilson district, who designed all the secondary roads of the district back in the early 1930's, developed an intestinal ailment which the doctors diagnosed as colitis. While distressing at times, "But when I asked the examiner what the cure was," Major Starnes replied, "Stay calm and collected. Don't get excited."

15. Imagine, said the highway engineer, "seeing a man in politics not get excited . . . !"

Many Fail to Claim Vet Insurance

By J. J. JOHNS MACFARLAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Veterans Administration official estimated today that only one-half of the 10 million eligible veterans have claimed their National Service Life Insurance.

The reason, he says, is that many veterans do not know they are entitled to the insurance, or that they are not eligible for it.

Official figures show that only one-half of the 10 million eligible veterans have claimed their National Service Life Insurance.

Living Cost In Europe Soars Higher

By STANLEY JOHNSON

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Americans may shudder at current living costs in Europe, but a survey indicated today that prices have risen less in the U. S. than in many other countries.

Moreover, the U. S. has held the line against inflation better than such uncontrolled countries as Canada, France and Argentina, according to figures released in the U. N.'s latest monthly bulletin of statistics.

The survey showed U. S. prices have gone up 10 per cent since 1948. Figures for other countries included: Britain, 20 per cent; Norway and Sweden, 31 per cent; Canada, 33 per cent; France, 45 per cent.

Some experts, however, claim the survey is not a fair gauge of living costs in Europe, because at that time, experts contend, the U. S. already was undergoing the worst of its postwar inflation but the prices had just begun to rise.

Another point made is that many of the most spectacular American price increases have occurred in the price of such items as meat which has little weight in the average person's budget.

Basic foodstuffs, incidentally, are shown by the survey to have risen only 10 per cent in the U. S. during the past four years compared with 21 per cent in Canada, 33 per cent in Sweden and 37 per cent in Norway.

But, most observers view in the devious ways of European politics, say that the President's public endorsement of McMath spelled the ruin of a young and promising politician.

Meanwhile, Sid McMath has proved that at one time he was a loss-and-sometimes that is the proof of a man.

LITTLE ROCK UP — Gov. Sid McMath formally congratulated Judge Francis Cherry yesterday for his victory in Tuesday's election with a letter pledging "my support and co-operation."

He also invited the new gubernatorial nominee to send his department heads when they are named, to "sit in on all board or commission meetings pertaining to their departments."

The governor sent copies of the letter to state department heads, urging their co-operation in helping Cherry and his supporters prepare a program.

In letters to members of the State Highway Commission, McMath told of his offer to Cherry and requested that the department "continue to work together in the remaining time that we have."

JONESBORO, Ark. — Francis Cherry rode in triumph down decorated Main Street of Jonesboro yesterday in his first triumph since he won the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Accompanied by his wife and three children, the Jonesboro resident rode in triumph down Main Street of Jonesboro yesterday in his first triumph since he won the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

The presentation speech, made by Jim Sloan — Cherry's Crittenden County campaign manager — was followed by a series of gifts of $1 to $50 from donors.

Cherry, the only gubernatorial nominee ever elected from Crittenden County, was unable to deliver a 10-minute speech, prepared for the occasion, because of a cold.

The gift was presented to Cherry after a parade down Main Street, where show windows displayed "Cherry" red welcome signs.

In the parade were 160 decorated cars and a high school band.

The procession ended at Woodland Field, where city fathers, union, church, school, business, farm and bar representatives made welcoming addresses before a crowd estimated at 4,000 persons.

Judge Cherry, who defeated third term candidate Sid McMath earlier this week, said that "this is the happiest moment of my life."

Without his help, I could never have been successful in this race. You people in Jonesboro stayed with me when everybody said I didn't have a chance. Maybe you didn't think I had a chance either, but you stayed with me and kept on working. I just can't make a speech today. All I can do is say thanks from the bottom of my heart."

Cherry's family — his wife, Margaret, and three children, Sandy, Scottie and Charlotte — and the Chancellor's court reporter and secretary, Miss Beatrice Gregor, also received inscribed gifts from the residents of Jonesboro.

Other Races Brought Into Izard 'Fraud'

MELBOURNE, Ark. (AP) — Apparent illegal voting in Izard County, Ark., primary last Tuesday, was brought into the election by a race and a possible appeal to the Democratic State Committee.

Two apparently defeated candidates said they would take their cases to court, and a third indicated that legal action was a possibility.

In a turbulent, 3-hour session the Izard County Democratic Committee canvassed the primary returns and rejected a request from Sen. W. M. Mack of Morrilton that it throw out all votes cast in the county in the 11th District senatorial nomination.

Mack's attorney said the decision would be appealed to the State Supreme Court.

The County Committee ordered a recount of all other cast ballots, but the committee decided that such a recount was impossible.

Without testing the legality of the vote, the losing candidate, for sheriff, and the defeated representative candidate, R. L. Blanton, filed a recount with the court.

Here for the talks are Chinese Premier - Foreign Minister Chou En-Lu, a large staff of Chinese military and industrial experts.

The Premier, who is also Russia's foreign minister, flew to Moscow yesterday from Peking with a big delegation that included

It was evident, however, that military questions would rank high among those taken up since China brought along the deputy chief of Peking's general staff, Su Yu, the Air Force commander, Li Jia-fu; Deputy Navy Commander Lu Shun, Chu, and Deputy Chief of Staff, Tsou Ching-wei.

Judging by others in the past, the Chinese government will not accept economic bonds with foreign specialists with Chou included. Mr. Chou, Minister of Heavy Industry, Minister of Fuel, Chen Yung-shan, Deputy Minister of Communications, Wang Cheng, Deputy Minister of Machine Building, Wang Tzu-shan, and economic expert Li Shunghung.

On the political side, were the head of the Asian department, the Peiping Foreign Minister Chou En-lai, the chief of the

The Chinese got a full red carpet reception by top Soviet leaders at the airport—indicating that it was important to the Russian government to have important attaches to the conference. Replying to the official welcome, Chou paid tribute to the "great friendship and unselfish aid" which China is receiving from the Soviet Union and said he had come to strengthen and co-operation between the two countries.

Chou's last conference in Moscow, in January, 1950, precedes the Korean War by six months. It appeared certain that the talks will aim at expanding cooperation within the scope of the 1950 Soviet-Chinese Friendship Mutual Aid Pact, the formalization of the two countries' present relationship. It is expected that the pact will be made also to broaden the pact and augment it with additional agreements.

to ask for an increase in 300-million-dollar credit for purchase of Russian industrial transport and agricultural equipment and for more Soviet oil aid. They will likely seek expansion of Soviet Chinese aid to counter the West's political trade of China.

Clauses of the 1950 agreement providing for Russia 14,700 Port Arthur naval bases, Manchurian Railway to China and for discussion these agreements were to be implemented.
